

MONTANA WATER COURT
CLARKS FORK YELLOWSTONE RIVER
(BASIN 43D)

NOTICE OF ENTRY OF PRELIMINARY DECREE
AND NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

ALL WATER USERS NEED TO READ THIS NOTICE

The Montana Water Court has entered its Preliminary Decree for the Clarks Fork Yellowstone River (Basin 43D). This water rights Decree is now available for your review.

If an abstract is enclosed, then you or your predecessor filed a claim for an existing water right with a priority date before July 1, 1973. The enclosed abstract reflects your existing water right claim as it appears in the Decree.

If an abstract is NOT enclosed, then you or your predecessor applied for or received a permit or certificate from the Department of Natural Resources and Conservation to appropriate water with a priority date after June 30, 1973 (for example, a well drilled in 1975 for domestic or stock purposes).

WHAT IS THE PRELIMINARY DECREE?

The Preliminary Decree contains 2,888 abstracts of existing water right claims filed in the Clarks Fork Yellowstone River (Basin 43D). The Decree includes all sources of water located within that drainage. The Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law in the Index volume of the Decree explain how the Decree was prepared.

What you should do:

- 1. Review the abstract of your own water right claim or claims.
- 2. Review the abstracts of all other water rights that affect your water right.
- 3. Decide if these abstracts correctly identify pre-July 1973 water use.
- 4. Decide if you want to file objections.
- 5. File your objections with the Water Court on or before the filing deadline.

Your water right can be affected by what is in your abstract and other abstracts in the Decree. The Montana Department of Natural Resources and Conservation (DNRC) examined all the claims. Elements of your claim may have been changed because of information the DNRC obtained during examination. If your abstract shows changes, you can challenge the changes by filing an objection with the Water Court.

Look the abstracts over carefully. The Decree Indexes will help your review.

The Source Name Index lists all claims under the name of each source of supply (Red Lodge Creek, for example). Under each source name, the claims are listed from the earliest priority date to the latest priority date.

The Priority Date Index lists all claims in Basin 43D beginning with the earliest date and continuing to the latest. You can find the rank of the priority date of all claims in the Decree in this index.

If there are issue remarks on the abstract of your claim which are not resolved by objection, those remarks will be addressed and resolved by the Water Court pursuant to Section 85-2-248, Montana Code Annotated. The Water Court will contact you about the issue remarks if no one objects to your claim.

SHOULD YOU FILE AN OBJECTION?

Only you can answer this question. You should first examine the abstracts of your water rights. Is the abstract correct as of July 1, 1973? If you don't agree with the elements of your abstract as printed in the Decree, you may file an objection.

You need to know:

1. Your water right may be subject to other water rights on your source or on other sources in the Basin;
2. Your water right may be subject to water rights in adjoining Basins;
3. Your water right may be subject to Indian and Federal reserved water rights;
4. A claim that no one objects to or does not contain issue remarks may remain unchanged and may be entered in the Final Decree as is; and
5. This Decree, as modified by objections and hearings, will be enforceable under Montana law (Sections 3-7-212 and 85-2-406, MCA).

If you believe your water right claims or someone else's water right claims in this Decree do not reflect their historical (before July 1, 1973) beneficial use, you can file an objection.

(2) If the Attorney General participated as an intervenor as provided in section 85-2-248, MCA, the Attorney General may appeal a decision.
